

Privacy Policy

In accordance with Article 13(1)(2) of Regulation (EU) No. 2016/679 of the European Parliament and of the Council of April 27, 2016 on the protection of individuals with regard to the processing of personal data and on the free movement of such data, and repealing Directive 95/46 /EC (GDPR), we inform that:

1. Our website uses cookies. These are text files saved by the browser on the computer (or other device) that the user is using at a given moment. Thanks to them, the website is able to remember individual user settings such as automatic login to the system, page colors. However, their most important role is to store session information. A session is a unique user ID sent between the server and web browser that the user is using at a given moment. Thanks to it, the server knows that it is dealing with this particular client and sends them data to which only they have authorization. For example, thanks to session cookies, the server recognizes the user and displays their entries for editing on the blog. Blocking cookies may cause the client to have problems accessing their data. Cookies can also be used by external companies cooperating with us to compile statistics on user visits and to display content that best suits their tastes. There is no user's personal data in these cookies. This site uses cookies to collect anonymous user statistics and to remember the preferred language in which the content of the page should be displayed.
2. By participating in the Online Music Guide Conference, you give your consent to the recording of your personal image and to using the recording in all fields of exploitation, including copying, reproduction, broadcasting and making available on the Internet.
